

Career Changing Opportunity – Become an Editor for SJOL!

The Student Journal of Law is an exciting new project formed in 2010 by students for students. We aim to provide a place for students to explore their interests in the law outside of their course, and to provide an opportunity for students to show their enthusiasm for the law by writing and publishing articles.

Example topic areas include a legal analysis of ASBO's, prisoners voting rights and Facebook fraud among many interesting and topical others.

Why join us?

Every book and website on careers in law extols the value of extra-curricular activities concerning the law. Every pupillage secretary and every graduate recruiter is looking for an exceptional person who takes part in something that says they are different – this greatly increases your chances of getting an interview in the first place.

How to join us?

To apply for the position of editor, please send an email with CV attached to; sjol.coms@gmail.com OR to the Chief Editor (at sjol.editor@gmail.com):

- With the subject "Editing"
- Attaching a copy of your CV (including a breakdown of your university grades)

For any questions, please contact your current university representative, Josh Bernholtz.
